Description of Duties:
This is a technical position responsible for coordinating the development and/or maintenance of customized database applications for use on micro-computers. This position differs from the lower level position of Computer Application Specialist by virtue of its supervisory, analytical, and planning, development, and coordination duties. The employee reports directly to, and works under the general supervision of, a higher level employee. The employee may provide general supervision to lower level subordinate staff.

Scope of Examination:
The examination will consist of two parts: a rated evaluation of training and experience and a qualifying PC-administered test. You must pass the evaluation of training and experience in order to take the qualifying PC-administered test. You must pass both tests in order to be considered for appointment. Only your rating on the evaluation of training and experience will be considered when computing final scores.

Rated Evaluation of Training and Experience:
All candidates who meet the minimum qualifications will be sent a letter directing them to a web-site to complete a questionnaire that asks for specific facts about your information technology education (formal degrees, IT-related training courses, certifications) and experience. You will also be asked to briefly describe a significant achievement in each of the job's areas and to provide the name and contact information for someone who can verify your information. The information you provide about your experience will be rated against the following areas:

Computer Programming
User Support
Business/Systems Analysis
Web Site Development

Qualifying PC-administered written test:

Only a sufficient number of candidates needed to fill the present vacancies will be called to take part in this qualifying portion of the examination. As additional vacancies occur, other candidates who were successful on the written portion of the examination will be invited to take the qualifying PC-administered test. The qualifying PC-administered test will be designed to test for knowledge, skills and/or abilities in such areas as:

1. Logical Reasoning and Interpreting Instructions for Computer-Related Positions

These multiple-choice questions test for ability to reason logically and interpret instructions in a computer-related context. They cover verbal and quantitative reasoning, flowchart interpretation and applying written directions. The verbal and quantitative reasoning questions include logical implications (e.g., if A and B, then C) and relations (e.g., greater than). Knowledge of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division is necessary, but neither mathematical sophistication nor computational speed is needed. The "interpreting instructions" questions provide the instructions and specific rules for applying them. All the information needed to answer the questions is presented with the questions.

2. User Support and Training

This simulation exercise requires candidates to assume the role of a staff member in a Help Desk support unit. Candidates will be presented with a user's problem. During the course of handling the problem, candidates will be required to: demonstrate communication skills, apply troubleshooting practices and tools, determine the appropriate level of training needed by the user, and educate the user on the proper use of computers.

3. Working Effectively with Others to Solve Job-Related Problems

This simulation exercise requires candidates to assume the role of a staff member in an Information Technology work group who is working with colleagues during a time of change in policy or procedure, in a particular agency. During the exercise, candidates will be required to deal with obstacles within the working environment, which includes peer relations and the demands of handling multiple tasks. Candidates will be required to demonstrate the ability to be flexible, creative and persistent as a team player. They will also need to demonstrate the ability to cooperate, show initiative, and establish positive working relationships with peers and administrators.

This examination is being prepared and rated by the New York State Department of Civil Service in accordance with Section 23-2 of the Civil Service Law. The provisions of the New York State Civil Service Rules and Regulations dealing with the rating of examinations will apply to this examination.
